

SOCIALISM AND THE STRUGGLE AGAINST RACISM ^{AND} ~~THE~~ FAR RIGHT

The recent neo-Nazi, white supremacist demonstrations in Charlottesville have thousands of people asking: "How do we defeat the far right?" How do we put an end to racism, sexism, nationalism, and other forms of bigotry?

Counter demonstrations have been called across the country, showing in great numbers that we reject their malicious ideas and actions. In order to build on this momentum, organized labor, social movements, and organizations with mass influence should work with us to build a mass movement that rejects all forms of racism, xenophobia etc. and also fights for a society where people have quality jobs, wages, healthcare, education, housing, and access to fully funded public services.

Join Socialist Alternative this Tuesday to discuss concrete ways forward in building these movements, and how we can defend ourselves against and ultimately remove the threat of the far right.
